2010 HERE WE COME

HAPPY NEW YEAR EVERYONE!!!!

Welcome to our first official Newsletter. We are excited for this upcoming season. Clinics are filling up quickly, so if you have not registered or booked a date, please do so ASAP to avoid disappointment. Be sure to visit our website frequently to keep up to date. Some changes have been made to our website and we hope you will find some of these changes more user friendly and informative. Let's get started on updating you all.

WEBSITE UPDATES

Clinic schedules are no longer posted under "News" but "Clinics" to enable my schedule to be more easily accessed. We also have made changes to the "Program" giving more of a detailed description of each clinic. The "Links" has now been changed to "Links and "FAQ". To date we have not posted any FAQ's.....more to come on this topic.

Be sure to visit "Articles" as there are several posted for you to benefit from for information. There will be a new article that will be quite informative posted in the spring from the Canadian Veterinarian Magazine. This will cover my presentation at the Alberta Animal Health Association of Technologists Provincial Conference.

FAQ'S

From time to time I will be updating and posting FAQ's on my website. However, we have found that some questions are quite unique. We decided that rather than my posting the "regular" FAQ's, we would offer a service of submitting questions to me and I will post them on my website with answers. Most of you are probably encountering the same difficulties and if not....well....it's still an opportunity to learn and reinforce the information you already know without my melodious voice in the background. We will not however post the persons name of who has submitted the question(s), this will remain confidential. We are hoping this will enable the more "shy" person to come forward with questions too.

GUEST SPEAKING

Although most of my guest speaking appearances have been in the winter months, due to the increase in demand, we have expanded this schedule throughout the spring/summer and fall months as well. Not only are we reaching out to the colleges/universities, and equine related organizations but have now expanded into the area of motivational and leadership presentations, drawing parallels between natural horsemanship and leadership in the work force. Due to rising costs of travel and budget restraints for organizations, visit our “clinic” link on our website www.canadiannaturalhorsemanship.com to see when I will be in your area to avoid additional expenses in travel.

HORSES FOR SALE!

This upcoming season we will have 2 year olds and yearlings for sale. These horses have been handled and trained by both Greg and myself personally. We take great pride in raising horses that are well bred, possessing a good mind and athleticism. Horses will be sold on a pre-approved basis. Included in the purchase price is instruction from Nettie to the horses level of training. Buyers must show they have an understanding of these concepts before taking the horse home. For more information, feel free to contact us by phone 780-354-3401 or e-mail: six-rch@telus.net Our Stallion “ROCKETZIP” is available this spring to outside mares. A valid coggins test is required.

A.E.F. CONFERENCE

The Alberta Equestrian Federation will be holding their 2010 Conference March 19th and 20th at the Red Deer Lodge, Red Deer, Alberta. The Conference features speakers and information for all disciplines of horsemanship. For more information visit www.albertaequestrian.com or my website at www.canadiannaturalhorsemanship.com and visit the “News” link . And for those who have or are missing my “melodious voice”, I will once again be emcee for this informative event.
